

Triple action

Exuviance's Triple Microdermabrasion Face Polish has been formulated to have a triple action approach to skin resurfacing, in a single, yet powerful treatment.

Its innovative and unique formula contains pure professional grade crystals, pure Papaya Enzyme and 10% Glycolic Acid to dissolve impurities that contribute to congested pores whilst stimulating cell renewal, loosening dead skin cells and removing any dry patches. Ideal for both salon and Spa treatments and for at-home use, the polish delivers instant results. With consistent use, clients' skin will appear clearer and brighter, with refined pores and a reduction in dark spots. The polish also helps stimulate cell renewal, encouraging skin to renew itself and assists in increasing the effectiveness of other skin care products.

Designed to soothe

Lynton Lasers are set to launch their latest innovation this January, a post-Laser skin care product entitled Light Soothe.

The first of its type, this unique serum is synergistically formulated to speed the natural recovery of Laser treated skin through cooling, moisturising and stimulating cell regeneration. Light Soothe offers Laser practitioners the ideal solution to clients suffering from the discomfort of Laser treatment, through dramatically soothing the skin and speeding up the recovery process.

"The serum really reduces any irritation and the incidence of side effects following tattoo removal has reduced dramatically," commented Kirsty Turnbull, Clinical Manager at the Lynton Clinic. "Our clients love feeling like they are doing something pro-active post-treatment to enhance results and aid healing, and as an added benefit, it's also become an additional revenue generator for all our aesthetic treatments."
